Marketing and Patents issues

17-18 October 2015

Organised by

Manipal College of Pharmaceutical Sciences
Manipal University
Manipal - 576104, Karnataka, India.

Overview of the Seminar

Nanomedicines/ nanopharmaceuticals have been considered to provide various advantages over the currently used dosage forms. While considering the advantages of nanomedicines, many scientists have identified the fatal toxic effects and many disadvantages of nanopharmaceuticals. There are many issues related to regulatory, scale-up, commercialization, marketing and intellectual property rights (IPR). The present National Seminar will be focused to educate the professionals of health sciences with these issues. This seminar will provide an overview of –

- i) Preparation and characterization, of nanopharmaceuticals
- ii) Applications of Nanopharmaceuticals
- iii) Regulatory, IPR and ethical issues
- iv) commercialization & marketing of Nanopharmaceuticals

Program highlights:

This seminar aims to create a common platform for the delegates and students to discuss above issues with the resource persons from academics, industry and regulatory bodies.

Target audience:

- Postgraduate students
- Research scholars
- Teaching faculty
- Industry professionals
